WILL NOT INTERFERE

The United States Will Not Assist Nicaragua.

HER LAST HOPE VANISHED.

In Her Controversy With Great Britain There Is but Three Courses Open, to Pay the Indemnity, to Permit the Occupation of Corinto, or to Fight—British Troops Ready to Land.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Nicaragua's last hope of assistance from the United States in her controversy with Great Britain to prevent the seizure of Corinto, vanished yesterday afternoon. Dr. Guzman, Nicaraguan minister, who had been waiting with intense anxiety to see Secretary Gresham, was finally successful about 3 o'clock when the secretary came into the department from the White House, where he had been in consultation with President Cleveland, presumably on the same subject.

The interview was very short. In five minutes the minister emerged from the secretary's office, looking very depressed. He refused to say a word as to what had taken place, but it can be stated that the secretary gave him to understand very clearly that the United States would not interfere in the case as it stands. So there are now three courses open to Nicaragua, namely: to pay the indemnity; to permit the occupation of Corinto or to fight, and the next few hours must find the choice declared, for the British troops are ready to land at Corinto.

As already stated in the Associated Press dispatches, the position taken by the president in this matter that the dispute is one entirely between Great Britain and Nicaragua, in which the United States has no call to interfere unless there should be committed acts injurious to American interests in Nicaragua, or there should be shown a disposition by Great Britain to acquire Nicaraguan territory. On each of the points a favorable assurance has been had from Great Britain and it is said all that can now be done is to watch the course of events.

This decision was not hastily reached, for the entire subject of our relations to the countries of Central and South America was considered and discussed very carefully by the president and his constitutional advisers, and there has been made a close scrutiny of the precedents that might suffice for our guidance. These have been found in at least three cases. The first was fully set out in the message of President Buchanan to congress in 1853, in that portion relating to Paraguay.

For several years preceding this message the United States had great difficulty in maintaining friendly relations with Paraguay, the latter country being then under the iron dictatorship of Dr. Lopez, who was carrying out a policy of excluding the rest of the world from his country by the most drastic measures. He had, as President Buchanan stated, upon the most frivolous and even insulting protests refused to ratify the treaty of Friendship and Commerce, concluded with Paraguay and seized and appropriated the property of American citizens residing in the country in a violent and arbitrary manner, and finally the Paraguayans had fired upon the United States steamship Waterwitch in 1855 and killed the helmsman while the vessel was making a peaceful survey of the Parana river to determine its fitness for steam navigation.

The honor as well as the interests of the United States demanded satisfaction and the president being clothed by congress with necessary power sent a naval expedition upon the Parana river to the capital of Paraguay and compelled ample apologies from the president and the payment of an indemnity of $10,000 to the family of the seaman who was killed and finally secured the ratification of the treaty.

The application of this case to the Nicaraguan situation is not exact, but it is regarded as committing the United States to the recognition of the principle of the right to demand an indemnity for the abuse of the United States officers, and therefore we could not consistently deny the same right to Great Britain.

The second case, which was relied upon as a precedent, grew out of the difficulties encountered by Spain, France and Great Britain in their relations with Mexico in 1860. These nations asserted that they had been placed by the arbitrary and vexatious conduct of Mexico under the necessity of exacting for the authorities of that country a more effective protection for the persons and properties of other states, as well as the execution of obligations connected with them by Mexico, and therefore they had combined to effect their ends by force if need be.

The United States which had similar grievances against Mexico was invited to join these European nations in forcing their demands upon Mexico. This invitation was declined by the United States, which was then in the throes of civil war, but the significant point in the case is found in this declaration by Secretary Seward:

"As the undersigned has heretofore had the honor to inform each of the plenipotentiaries now addressed, the president does not feel himself at liberty to question and he does not question that the sovereigns represented have undoubted right to decide for themselves the fact whether they have sustained grievances, and to resort to war against Mexico for the redress thereof and have also a right to levy the war severally or jointly. The United States have a deep interest which, however, they are happy to believe is an interest held by them in common with the high contracting powers and with all other civilized states, that neither of the sovereigns by whom the convention has been concluded shall seek or obtain any acquisition of territory or any advantage peculiar to itself and not equally left open to the United States and every other civilized state, within the territories of Mexico and especially that neither one or all of the contracting parties shall as a result or consequence of the hostilities to be inaugurated under the convention exercise in the subsequent affairs of Mexico influence calculated to impair the right of the Mexican people to choose and freely to constitute the form of its own government."

It appears that these stipulations were acknowledged by the contracting parties to the satisfaction of President Lincoln, although it was found necessary after the close of our own war to take steps to expel Maximilian from Mexico.

The third precedent was found in the case of the war between Spain and Chili in 1890, when upon being appealed to in behalf of Chili in the name of the Monroe doctrine to prevent the bombardment of Valparaiso, Secretary Seward wrote to United States Minister Kilpatrick at Santiago as follows:

"The government of the United States will maintain and insist that decision and energy which are compatible without existing neutrality that the republican government which is accepted by anyone of those (South American) states shall not be wantonly assailed, and that it shall not be subverted as an end of a lawful war by European powers, but beyond this point the United States government will not go nor will consider itself hereby bound to take part in wars in which a South American republic may enter with a European sovereign, where the object of the latter is not the establishment in place of a subverted republic of a monarchy under a European prince."

Upon these precedents rests the decision of the administration to refrain from interference between Great Britain and Nicaragua at this stage of the proceedings.

In behalf of Nicaragua, though without success, it would appear that it has been urged that the occupation of Corinto by the British troops would be in direct violation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty between the United States and Great Britain. A provision of that treaty prohibits British occupation of Central American territory. Article I covenants that the United States and Great Britain agree that neither will ever erect or maintain any fortifications commanding the Nicaragua canal or in the vicinity thereof, or occupy, or fortify, or colonize, or assume, or exercise any dominion over Nicaragua, Costa Rica, the Mosquito coast or any part of Central America.

It is pointed out that this is even more binding than the Monroe doctrine, as the latter is a principle asserted by the United States while the treaty is an agreement to which Great Britain is a party. There have been individual claims on both sides of the water that the Clayton-Bulwer treaty was abrogated, yet the governments have never formally abrogated it. A resolution was introduced in the last senate to abrogate it, indicating that those who oppose it consider it in force. The terms, it is held, appear to be very definite against Great Britain "occupying" or "exercising" any dominion over Nicaragua.

The Port Reported Closed.

COLON, April 26.—It is reported here that the British squadron at Corinto, Nicaragua, has closed that port.

THE PATENT OFFICE FIRE.

A Lesson That Commissioner Seymour Would Profit By.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The recent fire in the patent office has had the effect of calling renewed attention to the system by which patent office reports are stored and sold. Patent Commissioner Seymour has repeatedly endeavored to obtain congressional authority to change these methods, but so far without success.

At present whenever a patent is issued a description must be printed and bound with a drawing of the device. It is impossible to tell at the time how great a demand there will be for copies of the pamphlet, and the regular rule is to print 100 copies of each.

Some of these are distributed to state and government libraries and to a few other places, and the great majority are stored to await purchasers. In many cases only a few copies are called for, while in others the whole addition is rapidly exhausted and a new one has to be printed.

Some times a patent will lie almost unnoticed for years and then there will be a tremendous demand for it. For instance, in the case of the Berliner telephone patent the original 100 copies last for years and then over 2,000 more were asked for within a very short time. Between 500,000 and 600,000 patents have been issued and there are estimated to be 50,000,000 copies of the specifications for these stored in the patent office, many of which will never be called for. Some of these copies were destroyed in the recent fire.

Owing to the small size of the editions printed the actual cost of producing these reports is about 5 cents a copy. Allowing for the number that are never sold in many cases, the 10 cents for which they are sold is considered a fair price where single copies only are disposed of.

Chicora Victim Found.

DETROIT, April 26.—A special to The News from Niles says the body found at New Buffalo Tuesday had been fully identified as C. H. Stone, one of the members of the Chicora crew.

HORROR IN CANADA

Girls Jump From a Burning Tobacco Factory.

FOURTEEN FATALLY INJURED.

A Number of Others Badly Burned—Nine Hundred People in the Factory at the Time It Caught Fire—No Fire Escapes on the Building and the Windows Barred. Names of the Victims.

MONTREAL, April 26.—W. U. MacDonald's extensive tobacco factory on Ontario street, East, was partially destroyed by fire yesterday evening. The loss will reach $500,000, on which there is no insurance. There was no fire escape on the outside nor any appliances on the inside of the building for the fighting of fire. Even the windows were guarded by heavy iron screens, presumably to prevent theft.

The fire started at 5 p. m. in the dry-room and for a while smoldered. Then suddenly the flames burst out and a most awful panic ensued. There were 900 employees in the building, and more than half of this number were women and girls. The shrieks of the women as they beat against the iron screens praying to the crowd to get something to save them were most heartrending.

As the flames burst out there were three firemen on the roof, and for fully 20 minutes their lives were endangered till finally ladders were found to bring them down. They were badly burned. The girls were nearly all on the fourth floor. When the first wild rush on the stairway occurred the passageway was solidly packed, and many faint and fell under the feet of the frenzied crowd.

Then a mad rush was made for the windows. But the crowd forgot about the heavy iron screens which guarded that means of egress. Frantic women tore their hands beating against the cruel obstructions, but they were too strong for their feeble blows. Death seemed inevitable until Marie Gagnon found a window that yielded to the determined blows of those who could get their united efforts to bear.

The window overlooked a 1-story warehouse. Without a moment's hesitation the unfortunate woman leaped into the air and landed on the roof below. Encouraged by her daring, and impelled by the smoke and flames which were making rapid progress in that part of the building, other women followed. Her example nimbly about 20 maidens and bruised forms were piled upon the warehouse roof.

By this time the passageway had become sufficiently cleared to permit a more rapid clearing of the building. The work of rescue, by means of the fire extension ladders, was in progress, and many almost inanimate forms were carried out by the brave firemen.

On the third floor where the fire started the scenes were almost as heart-rending, but being warned the operatives were able to escape quicker by the stairway. Many were terribly crushed in the mad rush, but the most serious casualties were confined to those on the top floor.

Mary Gagnon, the first woman to jump from the fourth story, had her back broken and can not live many hours.

Great indignation is expressed against the officials, whose duty it was to see that the law was enforced in regard to fire escapes and appliances.

CHARLOTTE'S CONFLAGRATION.

A Number of Firms Burned Out, Entailing a Loss of $125,000.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 26.—At 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon fire was discovered in the third story of the big brick warehouse of Sanders & Blackwood on College street in the section occupied by the wholesale department of Brown, Weddington & Company. The warehouse was stored with wagons and wooden goods, and the origin of the fire is not known. Howell, Orr & Company occupy two-thirds of the upper floor as a cotton storage room.

The building is a very tall one and the telegraph lines that run in front of it hampered the firemen and there was considerable delay in running up the extension ladder and getting the hose to the windows. By that time the smoke was pouring forth in great volumes, the upper part of the building being, at times, entirely hidden from view. This started one of the heaviest fires in Charlotte's history. In one hour's time the great warehouse was a mass of ruins.

The stores of Harrison Watts, W. G. Burwell and H. G. Springs were burned, the stores of W. Brown, B. T. Scarborough, J. A. Overcash, Southern Chemical company, H. G. Linkfield Brothers, R. A. Daneau, W. H. Hoover and the offices of J. H. Sloan & Company were crushed in by falling walls. The lively stables and saloons opposite Howell Orr & Company were repeatedly ablaze, but were saved. The loss is not less than $125,000, partly covered by insurance.

Lost Two Widows.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—The contest over the estate of Frederick N. Kind, who died some time ago in this city, developed the fact yesterday that Kind had left two widows, one in this city and one in St. Louis. Neither knew the other existed. Both widows and one son are now after the estate.

SUPREME COURT'S ACTION.

The Whole Question of the Income Tax Will Again Be Argued.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—When the United States supreme court on May 6 again takes up the income tax question it will once more go into the merits of all the points involved, and will not, as its order made Tuesday, apparently stated, confine the argument to the question whether or not a rehearing of the case shall be granted.

This unexpected explanation of the court's order shows that what it intended to state in its ambiguous announcement was that it had granted the petition for a rehearing, and, if the bench was full on the date named, would reopen the cases on May 6. This order of the court, it is stated, was drawn hastily, and it was not noticed at the time that it was ambiguous and apparently justified the conclusion that the court had decided simply to hear argument on the question of granting a rehearing.

One explanation now given of the court order is that it was purposely made somewhat indefinite in terms because of the possibility of Judge Jackson not being able to be present, and that on this account the court did not wish to make a more positive order uncertain of his attendance.

The justices are quite perturbed at the premature publication of the conclusion of the court in this case, and at their unfortunate wording of the order of the court, and when asked for a definite and authoritative statement of the status of the case, little satisfaction could be obtained from the justices now, from the desire of the public and officials for information.

While it is the purpose of the supreme court to have the whole case re-argued and the merits gone into it at full length in order that a final disposition of the question may speedily be reached, yet there is good reason to believe that the vagueness of its recent order was due to some doubts still remaining as to the condition of Justice Jackson's health, it being thought that even if he is able to come to Washington, it may be found on his arrival here that he is not strong enough to sit through an argument that might be protracted through two weeks. The court therefore wished to leave itself considerable latitude as to the extent of the present hearing and freedom of action at the last moment.

The action of the court in fixing upon May 6 for the beginning of the reargument was something of a surprise to the officials of the department of justice. While as a matter of course, the government will be as ready on that day as is possible in the very limited time given for preparation, yet it is realized that it will be extremely difficult to do in eight days the work which rightfully calls for a month's close application. The department officials appreciate the fact that the principles involved in these cases are of vast importance, and hence will devote practically every moment yet remaining of the time to the preparation of the government's briefs and arguments.

TO CLEAR DURANT.

An Effort Being Made to Convict Rev. Gibson of the Crimes.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—Rev. John George Gibson, pastor of the Emmanuel church, was again on the witness stand yesterday in the preliminary examination of Theodore Durant, charged with the murder of Minnie Williams. The defense believes it has a case against the clergyman, and will try to show that he and not Durant killed both Miss Williams and Miss Lamont. On the day preceding the finding of Blanche Lamont's body her aunt, Mrs. Noble, received a paper containing the rings worn by the missing girl. On the paper were written the names of George B. King and Professor Schernstein, the apparent object being to connect these men with the girl's disappearance.

Experts declare the writing to be the disguised hand of Durant. In court yesterday, counsel for the defense requested Rev. Dr. Gibson to write the names of King and Schernstein. The minister did so, but asked twice how to spell Schernstein's name. Gibson was calm and collected on the stand and was a good witness. Nothing tangible against him was brought out by cross-examination and his testimony was concluded.

Alfred O. McElery, aged 18, testified that on Saturday evening, the 12th, he observed a man resembling Durant waiting on the corner near the church. Soon a young woman came along. The man approached her and shielded her with his shoulder from witness' observation. Soon afterwards witness, who had passed on, noticed a light moving in the church. The testimony was corroborated by Bert Miner, McElery's companion.

The other evidence adduced was the same as that given at the inquest. The examination was continued at the request of the district attorney.

Durant has secured a desk and an easy chair in his cell, and spends his time in studying his notes for his medical examination.

Missing Fishing Schooner Arrives.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., April 26.—The fishing schooner Francis of Astoria, which was supposed to have been lost at sea, has just arrived here and reports that a severe storm carried the vessel several hundred miles out of her course. More mystery than ever now attaches to the unknown derelict seen west of Cape Flattery 10 days ago.

Identified the Body.

ENGLISH, Ky., April 26.—Relatives of Pike Brown, who was killed here last Thursday, disinterred the body and identified him. The body will be re-interred to Borden, Clark county, where the family resides.

FIGHTING EVERY DAY

Cuban Insurgents Getting the Worst of It.

A NUMBER OF THEM KILLED

Three Recent Skirmishes Result Disastrously to the Insurgents—More Spanish Soldiers Arrive—Ammunition Shipped From America—Big Patriotic Fund Raised.

HAVANA, April 26.—A band of 100 insurgents under the command of Ramirez Lozano, attacked the town of Dos Caminos, about 12 miles north of Santiago de Cuba, but were repulsed by 22 Spanish soldiers. The rebels left on the field four killed and 10 wounded.

In an engagement at Valenzuela, Cirilo Dominguez, an insurgent officer, was killed and three men wounded.

At Adelaida the government troops had a skirmish with an insurgent band and five of the soldiers were wounded.

The insurgents in the Manzanillo district appear to be in a state of great confusion. They are being closely pursued by Colonel Santocildes.

Antonio Maceo, whose reported suicide proved to be untrue, will move his camp to another district.

Several merchants have offered Captain General Martinez de Campos the sum of $150,000 to be expended for patriotic purposes.

Powder and Caps Shipped to Cuba.

BALTIMORE, April 26.—The British tramp steamer Rydalwater, Captain Jones, sailed for St. Jago, Cuba, yesterday with 35,000 pounds of black cannon powder and 10,000 explosive caps. It is claimed the explosives are for the use of the Juragu Iron Ore company of St. Jago. The company's magazines at St. Jago were discovered by the insurgents a few weeks ago and thousands of pounds of powder stolen, and an attempt may be made to capture the Rydalwater before she reaches St. Jago.

Situation Very Serious.

TAMPA, Fla., April 26.—The steamer Olivette arrived last night with 76 passengers from Havana. One direct from Porto Rico reports that he came over to Guantanamo on the steamer Montevideo direct from Spain with 2,000 troops. They arrived on the 22d. From Guantanamo the troops boarded the steamer Mexico for Santiago. Reports are that the situation is very serious.

Costa Rica Must Explain.

PARIS, April 26.—The Costa Rican envoy here, it is announced, has been ordered to go to Madrid in order to explain to the Spanish government how the expedition of General Maceo, the Cuban leader, was allowed to leave Costa Rica and land in Cuba.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

Two Young Men Confess to Being Guilty of Several Crimes.

VALPARAISO, Ind., April 26.—A sensation was created here yesterday at noon by the arrest of Mert Capers and Dick Thomas, two prominent young men of this city, for highway robbery.

For two weeks past there has been a half dozen successful hold-ups on the edge of town. Both confessed to the sheriff that they were the parties, and that they had also burglarized the Grand Trunk freight house, taking half of an outfit of Broncho John Sullivan's Wild West show. Capers is 19 years old, and Thomas, 20. Other boys are implicated.

PASSED THE QUARANTINE.

The Guards Fired, and Two Empty Saddles Was the Result.

TELL CITY, Ind., April 26.—About 1 a. m. two strangers of suspicious actions attempted to ride rapidly past the quarantine guards on outer Tell street, ignoring the command to halt.

The guards fired upon the men, but owing to the darkness could not tell the result.

In the morning two strange horses with saddles and bridles were found in the lower part of the city, and it is supposed they belong to the men shot at by the guards, and that their riders were wounded and are in hiding somewhere.

No new cases of smallpox have so far developed.

DEADLY DYNAMITE.

Two Sticks Found on an Indiana Man's Front Doorstep.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., April 26.—At the home of William Cochrane, Jr., near Idaville, two sticks of dynamite, all primed and with caps attached, were found under the front doorstep, so placed that the slightest jar must have blown the house and its occupants to atoms.

Last winter Cochrane lost a lot of livestock by poisoning, and he is led to believe that some fiendish enemy is bent, not only upon doing him financial injury, but upon having his life and killing his family.

Car Passed Over His Neck.

AKRON, O., April 26.—Clyde, the 8-year-old son of Lincoln Long, fell from a street railway trolley, in which he was riding yesterday, and was badly injured. He insists, and his companions corroborate his story that a wheel passed over his neck. That his head was not cut off, the doctors say, is most miraculous.

Condition of the Treasury

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Yesterday's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $184,716,493; gold reserve, $90,762,410.

Proprietors.

FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1895.

Showers; cooler weather; east winds.

In his present fight for re-election Senator Blackburn has gotten into the hardest row of stumps he has ever tried to hoe. His views on the currency question are too extreme, and we don't believe the people of the State will endorse them.

THERE seems to be a disposition on the part of the Cincinnati Enquirer to mix up in the present Democratic family quarrel in this State, and it is putting in a lick for free silver wherever it can. If the Enquirer will attend to the party in Ohio it will have its hands full.

REPUBLICAN editors are forced to acknowledge the improvement of business, and in their efforts to explain things are putting their foot in it as usual. The Louisville Commercial accounts for it by saying that the next congress will prevent any "radical or disturbing action in regard to the currency or the tariff." "This from a paper, which thinks that the present tariff is the mother of innumerable woes, is very good indeed, showing a teachable mind, which is quite commendable," remarks the Louisville Post.

WHEN a person boards a train nowadays the first thing the "news-butcher" puts at him is the free-silver tract "Coin." The persistent efforts of the boys to dispose of this book indicate that they are well paid for their work. "Coin" attempts to simplify the currency question, and contains a series of lectures on finances which the book represents as having been delivered by a sixteen-year-old boy. The Chicago Tribune says it is nothing more than a dummy that has been stuffed with a lot of straw by a jolly joker sent from Montana by the silver kings of that region, to pervert the truth.

EX-GOVERNOR McCREARY, one of the Democratic Senatorial candidates, is out in a card in which he declares himself unalterably opposed to the free coinage of silver, as this is understood and expressed by the recognized and extreme advocates of the silver doctrine. He believes in action on this by international agreement, consistent with safe business methods, but to throw the mints of this country wide open to the world, he says, is simply preposterous, for the reason that no first-class power has its mints thus open. Mr. McCreary takes the correct view of this question. "It is significant," he says, elaborating in detail, "that the per capita of circulation is greatest in those countries where the single gold standard prevails and least where the white metal is the order, as witness England, France and the United States on the one hand, and China and Mexico on the other. In the silver countries the per capita is way down, being only $2 in China, as against $24 in the United States."

A Shot at "Pagan Bob."

St. Louis Republic: "Ingersoll's special pleading inquires why, if Christ were God, He did not foresee the sufferings of the martyrs and interpose for their protection.

"It is a careless reader of the New Testament who cannot find those passages in which Christ told his disciples of the persecutions which would follow the preaching of the Word. But so far from enjoining them to save themselves He urged them to go forward. The trend of all his teaching was toward the assertion that only the truth can make men free, and that the truth could only prevail through long suffering and tribulation. Ingersoll fails completely to grasp the animating spirit of the Christian faith, which is that the cross is necessary to the crown."

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

Hon. Rosel Weissinger, of Louisville, Comments on a Statement by Senator Blackburn.

Senator Blackburn, in an interview a few days ago, said:

"For the last twenty years, in Congress and on the stump, anywhere and everywhere, I have earnestly and persistently insisted upon the restoration of the silver metal to that place in the monetary system of the country which it had always held prior to the passage of that disastrous act of demonetization passed in 1873."

At a meeting of the Louisville Board of Trade since then, Mr. Rosel Weissinger referred to the above and said:

"Now what does this mean. What place did silver have in our monetary system prior to the 'disastrous' act of 1873? For quite ten years before 1873 we were on a greenback basis, and had neither gold nor silver in our money system. But he evidently does not intend to advise us to go back to the times of greenback inflation."

"Does he mean to restore the silver dollar to coinage as it was prior to 1873, without examination of the history of our coinage legislation, or of our currency? This would certainly not be very reasonable. No one would for a moment think of such a step unless his mind was in such a state of rage over the 'crime of 1873' to be incapable of ordinary prudence."

"An examination of history will show that this country had silver monometallism until 1834, and after 1834 and until the war it had gold monometallism."

"In 1792 free coinage of gold and silver was established at the ratio of 15 to 1. This was the market ratio at the time, and for a few years and to some extent gold and silver were coined for circulation contemporaneously. In a short time, certainly as early as 1810, the market ratio changed, and silver became the cheaper metal. Gold at once ceased to circulate or to be coined for circulation. The country then had a silver currency alone."

"In 1834, history will show the ratio was changed to 16 to 1. Gold being at this ratio the cheaper metal drove the silver money that was of full weight and legal tender out of circulation. The country went upon a gold basis, and gold became the money of the country."

"In 1853, because silver had almost entirely disappeared, even to the extent that there was great lack of small change, the nominal free coinage was stopped as to all coins less than a dollar. They were debased in value, made subsidiary, and given a legal tender power of only 5¢. The nominal right to coin silver dollars remained on the statute; but this law had been a dead letter since 1834, because the silver dollar was worth several cents more than a dollar in gold. Practically then silver was demonetized in 1853."

"The above is history. To talk about 'restoring silver,' etc., is clear nonsense. If it should be restored to its relative position with respect to gold prior to 1873 it would be so high that it could not circulate. To coin it at a ratio that would make it cheaper than gold would at once drive out gold from circulation."

"If, then, the Senator is a bimetalist and abhors equally gold or silver monometallism, his proposed free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, when the market ratio is 32 to 1, would clearly defeat his efforts to have 'the use of both gold and silver on even terms as the redemption money of this country.'"

Buckner the Coming Man.

The Cincinnati Enquirer gives the following as the correct status of the Senatorial contest in Kentucky:

Meantime while the fight is going on between Blackburn and McCreary it is suspected that the shrewd old fox, Simon Bolivar Buckner, is gaining ground all the time. In all the factional strife in Kentucky it is significant that nobody has anything against Buckner. Brown, McCreary, Blackburn and even Carlisle have their enemies in plenty, but if Buckner has any implacable critics they are not of that variety who manifest themselves by bitter remarks and wild threats. His war record is without a flaw, his career as a private citizen has been dignified and upright, and his administration of the office of Governor has been clean and without a scandal. The only objection alluded to by his Senatorial ambition with any pertinacity is his inability as an orator, but this is largely overcome by the growing feeling that the average Senator does entirely too much talking anyway, and the times demand a class of Senators who will do more hard work and less talking.

Brooksville After an Electric Road.

The Brooksville correspondent of the Augusta Chronicle says: "John E. Smith, assisted by A. L. Tompkins, two civil engineers in the employ of the Electric Railway Syndicate of New York, are here this week, making preliminary surveys of the route for an electric railway from this place to the Ohio river and the C. and O. Railway. Their survey for the present is limited to a minute inspection of the topography of the country along the three proposed routes—the first to Augusta, the second to Rockspring and the third to Bradford. These gentlemen will make a careful estimate of the probable cost of constructing an electric railway along each of these three routes, and will report to the chief engineer, who will meet with the board of directors and managers in the city of New York, in May or June."

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.

A Lively Fusillade Near Chatham, Bracken County, Thursday Morning

A lively shooting affray occurred at Chatham early Thursday morning between Dr. Watson and Stephen Taylor.

Just what caused the trouble was not learned. The two got into a dispute, when Barney Taylor told his brother to down the doctor. Stephen did this, but Watson was soon getting the best of him. According to the information at hand Barney then advised his brother to use his pistol. The latter opened fire and shot the doctor twice, both wounds being in the leg.

In the meantime some one handed Watson a pistol and he returned the fire. Altogether about a dozen shots were exchanged, but their aim was bad.

Taylor was wounded on the hand. A boy named Jones was struck in the neck by a stray bullet, but it was not learned how badly he was hurt.

Dr. Watson formerly lived at Minerva. The latest information is that the boy, Jones, was not seriously wounded.

The beautiful lecture upon "Our Homes" by the Rev. Carter Helm Jones on Tuesday night at the opera house was an intellectual effort of great brilliancy. It was replete with jewels of eloquence, bright witticisms, poetic passages and strongly painted word pictures. Those who were so fortunate as to be present felt that the most inmost hearts were touched and their best emotions stirred by the utterances of this talented young divine.

COAL OPERATORS COMBINE.

They Will Jointly Fight the Miners in Their Demands for Higher Wages.

PITTSBURG, April 26.—It is generally believed here that the operators will combine to fight the miners on the Wheeling division of the Baltimore and Ohio road. Nonunion men have been brought in to take the places of strikers, and more are coming. This is expensive, and all the operators of the district will help bear the expense, believing that if the mines along that division are once put in operation at the reduced rate the backbone of the great strike will be broken. An operator yesterday admitted that this was the plan decided upon.

Henry Floersheim's mines are getting out some coal, and more men are to be brought in soon. W. J. Steen's miners in the Tom Run district yesterday quit work and joined the strikers. The report is also current here that the benefits that are paid regularly to the strikers do not come wholly from the miners who are employed. In fact, the Ohio operators are credited with liberal contributions to keep the strike going.

BRAVELY FACED DEATH.

George Geschwiltz Hanged in the Ohio Penitentiary at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, O., April 26.—George Geschwiltz was hanged at 12:21 this morning. He showed wonderful nerve on the scaffold, maintaining the composure which has marked his conduct ever since his confinement in the penitentiary annex. He received the news of Governor McKinley's refusal to interfere without any demonstration. The execution was a success, the neck being broken and the heart beats ceasing in 13-14 minutes.

A year ago George Geschwiltz cut his wife to pieces in this city, and it was for this crime that he was executed. It is thought he was guilty of other murders.

MURDER MYSTERY CLEARED.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 26.—Officers from this city went to Alexandria, Ind., yesterday and arrested William Disbennett for the murder of an unknown man whose body was found in an alley in this city on April 21, 1890. The man was sandbagged and robbed of his money. The murder remained a mystery until about a week ago when a man who was with Disbennett when the crime was committed, made a confession. Disbennett has served a term in the Michigan prison since he did the killing. The dead man was never positively identified.

COINS BURIED BY INDIANS.

JAPAN'S DILEMMA.

There Will Be Trouble at Home if She Yields to Outsiders.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 26.—The Japanese government replying to the note of the Russian government intimating that there are various conditions in the treaty of peace between Japan and China that Russia can not allow to be put into execution, has informed Russia that if Japan yielded to the exactions of Russia, France and Germany, she would expose herself to a revolution, as the Japanese people are intoxicated with their victories and would assent to no concessions.

In spite of this reply, Russia is determined to maintain her demands.

Not Believed in Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Japanese officials here question the correctness of the St. Petersburg cable giving Japan's reply to Russia. It is pointed out that the Tokyo government would not make such a confession of weakness as to say that a revolution would occur. It is also said that the reply lacks the dignity that will characterize such an answer as Japan may make. While this is the view of officials they have not been advised of the Russia-Japan phase of the subject. The impression is growing, however, that while the threatened intervention will not be realized it may encourage China to break the peace arrangement and thus bring on a renewal of the war.

Negro Desperado Shot.

BLUEFIELDS, W. Va., April 26.—News has reached here of the killing, at Houston mines, in McDowell county, of Lee Ward by Deputy Marshal Smith. Ward was a desperate negro moonshiner and a fugitive from Virginia, where he had broken jail, and for whom there was a reward of $150.

Drowned While Attempting to Escape.

WHEELING, April 25.—Yesterday Jacob Campbell, a farmer, made complaint to Mayor Burnside of Buchanan that Clarence Lewis and Everett Miller, two well known young men, had fraudulently obtained a large sum from him on a green goods scheme. Both men were arrested, but Miller broke away and ran, closely pursued by the officers. Finding the officers were gaining on him, Miller turned his course and ran to the river, into which he plunged. The water was deep and cold, and Miller was in an exhausted condition he sank and was drowned.
